Threats and opportunities in the spotlight for National Equine Forum 2025

The Equine Industry in a Changing World will include a Parliamentary view of the status of the sector. In addition, the British Horse Council will provide an update and there will be a review of the Paris 2024 Olympic Games.

Equine Health Updates will include the latest news on some of the most serious disease threats to horses in the UK.

Equine feeds will look at feed safety and legality, the fundamental role of forage and where to find reliable as well as appropriate nutrition advice.

Equine Assisted Services will take a close look at the partnership role horses play, both ridden and on the ground, from their inclusion in the Paralympic Games to how they facilitate learning and positively impact lives.

The Memorial Lecture will explore how charities are continuing to work together around the emerging face of equine welfare challenges in Britain, including views from the 'front-line'. In addition, the winner the Sir Colin Spedding Award will be announced.
